❑ Fort Worth Outreach Initiatives

What is a Community Outreach Team?

It is a team of health and social workers who provide social service referrals to Fort Worth families, neighborhoods and the community as a whole.

What are some examples of the team services?

- Women – The Fort Worth Women’s Health Initiative provides brief case management, service coordination, linkage to health and social services and education opportunities to women of child-bearing age. Services focus on assisting and sharing information that will improve the health of women to increase the chances for healthy newborns in Fort Worth. For more information call 817-871-7125.
- Families – Link families facing crisis to community resources through referrals.
- Neighborhoods – Keep neighborhoods safe by attempting to prevent homelessness. Residents on the verge of being evicted should call 817-392-6200.

❑ Public Health Inspections

Who is responsible for inspecting restaurants, childcare facilities, swimming pools, hotels and motels?

The Consumer Health Division of the Fort Worth Code Compliance Department.

How can I report a sanitation problem at a local restaurant, childcare facility, swimming pool, hotel or motel?

Two options are available to you:

- By phone: (817) 392-7255
- Online at www.fortworthgov.org/codecompliance.

How can I find out the inspection scores of local restaurants and other facilities?

You can find inspections score at www.fortworthgov.org/codecompliance.

❑ Government Insurance/Income Programs

Who should I contact with questions concerning Medicare, Medicaid, Social Security or TexCare Partnership?

Medicare, Medicaid, Social Security and TexCare Partnership are all funded through federal or state programs. The City of Fort Worth has no involvement in these programs.

Medicare

Medicare, a federally funded program, provides health insurance to citizens 65 years old and older, as well as kidney transplant and dialysis patients. If you or your spouse worked at least 10 years in Medicare covered employment and are a U.S. citizen or permanent resident, you are eligible for Medicare.

☐ Social Service Resources

City of Fort Worth Services

What are social services provided by the City of Fort Worth?

The Parks and Community Services Department's Community Action Partners Program provides assistance, either directly or by referral, with clothing, food, shelter, utility payments and medical help. Bus passes are provided at all locations to assist with job searches, doctor's appointments and referrals to other social service agencies. Comprehensive case management services are available for eligible households.

Where are Community Action Partner Centers located?

Ten Community Action Partners Centers are located throughout Tarrant County. Eight are located in municipal community centers near public transportation, one at the Parks and Community Services Administration Building and two centers serve residents in the far southeast and far northwest sections of Tarrant County. Each center serves a specific group of zip codes. Call any center listed below to locate the center serving your zip code.

Other social services provided by the City of Fort Worth include:

The Summer Food Service Program for Children – Each summer the City of Fort Worth serves free meals to children ages 1 to 18 at community centers and other participating organizations. The Summer Food Service Program is a building block in the community for healthy children and helps to attract federally funded resources for programs that combine mealtime with recreational and educational activities. Call (817) 392-5788 to locate a site near your home or to enroll your organization as a site.

Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets – Provides low cost or no cost baskets containing all items necessary to prepare a holiday dinner.

Cowboy Santas – Gives each eligible child a major toy, books, games and stocking stuffers to make their holidays brighter. To donate or find out more information, call (817) 392-8697.

Community Resources

How can I find out about other community resources available that are not connected with the city?

The Blue Book, a directory of community resources in Tarrant County, includes listings of more than 300 major local social service agencies and programs. The United Way of Tarrant County publishes it annually.

You may access the Blue Book or its information in three ways:
